Bricks Need Mortar - Where main street businesses come together to gain skills, access resources and collaborate.

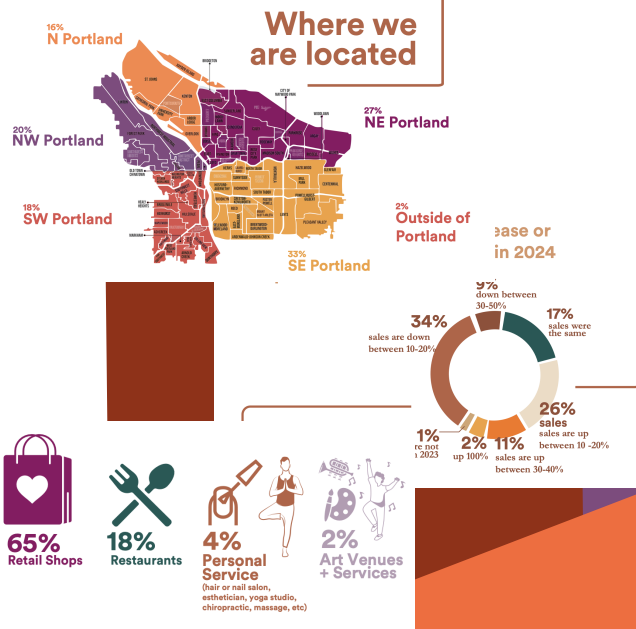

Creating Community

As the the environment in which we conduct business is ever changing the need for connection, collaboration, innovation and learning is more essential than ever before. We host monthly in person Shop Talks and virtual learning sessions + panel discussions to help you gain skills, partner with peers and ensure your voice is heard.

We are Here

Bricks Need Mortar conducts surveys to capture the pulse of Portland's small brick and mortar business community. We share data with small businesses so you can see how you stand in relation to your peers and help guide you in making important decisions.

We share this data with policy makers to help them understand the needs of our community and to support our advocacy efforts.

Visibility

With an email list of 10K shoppers and growing, we send out a monthly email inspiring readers with community stories and small business features, reminding them of all the reasons to shop small businesses all year round.

Advocacy

Bricks Need Mortar provides a voice and visibility for Portland's brick and mortar small businesses.

Partner with other small businesses in the spirit of community over competition to survive, sustain, and thrive into the future!
